

Video and Channel Attachments

Attachments are extra files linked to a video or channel. For instance, you might want to include an invoice copy with a specific video.

However, before users can add files, an administrator must set up the attachment types. This involves creating a field where users can upload files, and naming it, like "Invoice" in our example.

Administrators can define as many attachment types as needed, as long as each has a unique name.