

Notifications

Notification rules can be set up for various events to automatically send targeted information about certain events. So you can send, for example, a notification to any e-mail address, if an automatic video release expires. The date of notification can be defined as well as the addressee.