

New feature: Automatic livestream playback for Webcast

To enable a better Webcast experience, the livestream playback will automatically start whenever the Webcast state changes from pre-live to live.

The playback is muted by default. You can unmute the playback in the player itself or from a prompt that appears in the Webcast Consumer view.

For more information, please consult this article.