

Preferred language displayed for users logged in via SSO

VideoManager Pro will now automatically display the preferred language for users logged in via Single-Sign-On (SSO).

This feature is enabled by an integration between your organization's active directory and VideoManagerPro that processes user's language preferences provided by your organization's active directory.